THE RUNNING RACES. The Horses That Will Appear at the Fair

Grounds This Week. To-morrow the fall meeting of the National Association commences. A hundred horses are at the grounds to do battle for their owners. The claus have gathered from far and near to fight this last battle of the year. The contests of Long Branch, Jerome Park, Saratogs, and Pimlico, ever memorable in the equine history of the season, will be again renewed upon a neutral field, where all the surroundings are favorable for the grandest performance of them all. The magnifi-cent track of the association is in the most per-fect order, and is pronounced by all the horsemen as superior to any they have seen this year, and if the weather is but propitious the meeting must prove a grand success. There are sixteen races on the card, four for each day, and Major J. D. Ferguson, of the Maryland Jockey Club (than whom none better), as secretary of this meeting, has so arranged them as to bring out the full powers of all the borses engaged. On the first day, in the NOVELTY HANDICAY STAKES, a dash of one and one-eighth miles, there are twelve entries—Thora, Eole, Valparaiso, Ohio Boy, Jake White, Colonel Sprague, Pair Count, Ventril-oquist, Checkmate, Oden, Lida Stanhope, and Pride, with probably eleven to start. This is a grand field of horses, and he must a be more than Vennor who guesses the winner. Besides this race there are three others, a dash of one mile for twothere are three others, a dash of one mile for two-year-olds, in which there will probably be Bride-cake. Little Buttercup, Bob Riddle, Sweet Home, Eurice, Marchioness, and others; and Buttercup, who won the first heat of the three-quarter mile race at Pimlico, will be much faucied for this event, when a dash of one and a quarter miles for fillies and mares of all ages will bring out a big field of the reserves, and we may look for a clink-ing race in this, ending with a steeplechase of two and one-fourth miles over the regular course. The second day opens with a dash of one mile for all ages of horses that have not won since October 1, and here the beaten brigade will have a chance, and it will be a race, as old man Harper was wont to say, "from eand to cend." Then comes the great

post, and then the crowning glory of all, the YORKIOWA CENTENNIAL HANDICAP, for three miles. It is a pity the foreign guests could not have remained in Washington to see the best of the Yorkiowa festivities. Here to the front for this rich prize comes Lorillard with Monitor and Aella; Walter Dun brings a re-reminder of Autumn, with his Oak Leaf; George Bowie inscribes his banger with Oriole; Ackerman & Co, add a savor of old ocean with Surge; T. B. Davis, genial bachelor that he is gives his heart and trusts his fortunes to Klia Warfield, while the veteran Glenmore, bears the colors of Mr. Jennings and his half-brother Checkmate does battle for Major Williams and Kontucky; Fair Count makes a second bow for Mr. Petengill and Ventrilequist bears the fortunes of Babcock & Co; W. S. Cros seems in his early love in Mary Anderson, and Lawrence Hart plays a pair with little Harry and Mintzer; G. B. Rryson gives a gem of the Emerald isle M. Irish King; J. N. Ackerman looks for an office with Ohio Boy and J. W. Loud makes a second venture with Lidae Stanbope—a muchly mixed crowd. Oh, that some knowing one? would tip me the winner. Then there will be at mile heats for the beaten ones, and as a fitting fimale a climax steeplechase. This is incomparably the largest and best stable of race-horses that ever gathered in Washington before, let octogenarians say what they list, or include in their remainscenses of the days when Old Hickory and Harry of the West went out to see the flyors and Randolph included his cynicisms. They nor their descendents have nover seen aught like this before. A look about the hotels shows a large influx of strangers from almost every city in the Union, and the talk is decidedly horsey. The arrangements for reaching the grounds are perfect, the trains running at 9, 9, and 1198 a. in, 12 m, 1220, 1, 120, 230, and 320 octock p. m., with round-trip tickets at ten cents. The cost of admission to the grounds and grand stand is placed at the extremely low figure of $1, and the management have taken every precaution to prevent the intrusion of all improper characters. Taken all in all, it could be no better, and much credit is due them for the skill and energy displayed in this matter, and it may safely be predicted that our citizens will show their appreciation of the efforts made to please them. It is understood that if this meetling is a success financially, and there seems to be no reason why it should not be, it will become one of the permanent events to be looked forward to at each recurring year. THE WIDOW AND HER ORPHANED LITTLE ONES followed bim who had been their support to the grave many eyes were filled with tears. It is understood that the widow is left in very straightened cromastances. If such is the case steps should be immediately taken for her relief. Her husband fell in the line of his duty just as much as a soldier dies upon the field of action, and the Government should extend to her and her children protection and assistance. If any of the children—boys or girls—are old enough they should at once be given positions in some of the Departments, and in this way just and needed assistance would be rendered by the Government.

She subsequently read before several New York critics, who were unanimous in commending her style, method, and action, and predicted success for her should she enter the dramatic profession.

WASHINGTON ON MESTRAL UNION. Formation of an Organization by the Instrumental Performers of the District.

Another new musical organisation has been formed which can go hand in hand with the new Operatic Association, which appears to be now on the high road to success. This is an association o the best of the instrumental performers in the District, who have united under the title of the Washington Orchestral Union. The organization was perfected last night by the election of Dr. E. S. Kimball as director and Messra Bernays, Chris, Arth, and Henry Donch as the board of managers. This association is the outgrowth of the musical society that was formed some months ago, and it starts with a large memberable. It is intended that it shall number about swenty-five, and that Washington shall have a full and complete orchestra competent to render the most severely classical music without calling upon talent from other cities, as has beretofore been the case. The union has been fortunate in the selection of its director, who, besides possessing a thorough musical education, has all the enthusiasm of youth as well as indomitable energy and perseverance. When the Operatic Association is prepared to present "The Chimes of Normandy," which, under the efficient directorship of Mr. John P. Sousa, will not require a long period of practice, the management of Antaesociation will find in the Orchestral Union an orchestra fully completent to reader the complimentary assistence necessary to a perfect performance. These two organizations should be liberally supported by our citizens, and such will no doubt be the case. strumental Performers of the District.

The entertainment at Lincoln Hall to night promises to be a decided success. A large number of tickets have already been sold, and the demand continues. The best local talent will appear, including Miss Eva Mills, Mrs. E. R. True, Messrs, John Pugh, E. B. Hay, E. J. Whipple, David Bangs, W. H. Daniel, S. J. Kubel, and S. H. Jecko. The "Rose of Auvergne," Offenbach's charming operetta, will present Mrs. True in a role in which she appears to peculiar advantage, singing and seding with exceptional vivacity, while the other parts will be ably sustained by Messrs, Pugh and Daniel. The programme will be as follows: I, baritone solo, "If! Were a Knight," Mr. E. J. Whipple; 2 readings (selected), Mr. David C. Bangs; 3, duett—soprano and tenor—Miss Eva Mills and Mr. John Pugh; 4, reading selected), Mr. E. B. Hay; 5, soprano solo—waitz, from "Romeo and Jullet,"—Miss Eva S. Mills.
